House to Move Swiftly to Okay Postoffice Funds

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House was ready to approve swiftly today a bill to give the Post Office Department another 41 million dollars to restore normal mail service.

The Senate was poised to act, possibly tomorrow, thus clearing the way for Postmaster General Summerfield to call off service cutbacks begun Saturday.

Meanwhile, a second stage of Summerfield's cutback order became effective today. Mail deliveries to city business districts were limited to two a day, and most post offices went on an 8 1/2-hour schedule for window service.

In advance of the House voting, Chairman Cannon (D-Mo.) of the House Appropriations Committee said, "I expect no difficulty."

Sen. Robertson (D-Va.), chairman of the Senate Appropriations subcommittee handling postal funds, said he would urge the Senate to accept the 41-million-dollar figure. He said he feels that enough to restore all postal services.

Summerfield has said he will make no move to restore service until the President signs a bill giving him more money.

He has said he must have 47 millions to keep full mail service in operation during the remaining 2 1/2 months of this fiscal year. He has promised to restore all the cuts he can if he gets 41 millions.

He says the supplemental request was prompted by unforeseen costs. He attributed these to unexpectedly heavy mail volume, a need to open new routes to serve spreading residential area, and a postal pay raise.

Congressional critics, including Cannon, have contended Summerfield should have lived within his regular budget of more than two billions dollars. They have accused him of violating a law designed to prevent overspending by federal agencies.

Comptroller General Joseph Campbell, head of the watchdog General Accounting Office, said the Post Office Department violated the anti-deficiency law "in spirit" while staying technically in bounds.

But Campbell, in a letter to Summerfield and Cannon, said the Budget Bureau broke the law by allowing the Post Office to spend its regular appropriation too rapidly.

He said the section of the law relating to the postal situation provides no penalty for violations.

Draft Board Clerks Meet Here Tuesday

An Area Conference for Local Board Clerks of the Selective Service System in Arkansas will be held in the Municipal Court in the City Hall of Hope, Arkansas beginning at 10 a. m. April 16.

Staff Officers from Arkansas State Headquarters who will attend the conference are Col. Fred M. Croom, State Director; Col. Carl D. Wells, Chief, Manpower Division; Capt. C. Wade Wood, Chief, Administrative Division; and Mr. Boyd Reece, Local Board Auditor.

Also, in attendance at the conference will be the Members of Local Board No. 29, L. E. Aslin, Dr. F. C. Crow, and Paul H. Jones.

The following named Local Board Clerks will be present: Mrs. Bonnie L. Moore, Local Board No. 69, DeQueen; John N. Hipp, Local Board No. 55, Murfreesboro; Mrs. Freda P. Watson, Local Board No. 21, Nashville; Mrs. Sula S. Eastwood, Local Board No. 41, Ashdown; John Burckhalter, Local Board No. 46, Texarkana; Mrs. Grace Baxter, Local Board No. 46, Texarkana; Mrs. Bess V. Bryant, Local Board No. 50, Prescott; Miss Helen G. Dayton, Local Board No. 10, Arkadelphia; Mrs. Mary G. Whitley, Local Board No. 37, Lewisville; Mrs. Patricia A. Murphy, Local Board No. 44, Magnolia; Mrs. Ruth Y. Smith, Local Board No. 52, Camden; Andrew C. White, Local Board No. 49, Mount Ida; and Mrs. Gladine B. Morris and Mrs. Maude J. Grinnett, Local Board No. 29, Hope.

Miss Murray, known as "The Show Plane Lady," is perhaps the most stage-struck woman in America. She was a variety player on the circuit and the show in college, but now she plays all her concertos on an even more lively instrument — the cash register. "My mother was a singer and my father was a comedian," she said, "and I yearned to do high idealistic things in the theater myself. But I found my real talent was as a promoter."

Betty came to Broadway with a handful of dreams back in 1947. She took the first job she could find — as a switchboard jockey and utility girl for a local radio station. Then she began promoting trade shows.

In 1954 the tall, slender, blue-eyed girl caught the attention of Herman Shumlin, producer of "Little Rascals."

She was the ideal girl to make new living things out of old Christmas decorations.

GONE TO THE DOGS — "Sandy" waits in vain by a Kansas City, Mo., mail box for his favorite postman to arrive. Week-ends were shot for countless pooches across the nation who are accustomed to keeping their daily vigil with the letter carrier. There'll be no more Saturday mail until additional funds are available for postal operations, says Postmaster Summerfield. — NEA Telephoto

City Manager's Duties Cover All Departments

(Editor's Note: This is the first of a series explaining the city management form of government.)

Advocates of the City Manager Form of Government said today that numerous questions had arisen as to just what constituted the City Manager Form of Government, and just what differences, if any, there are with the present Mayor-Aldermanic form of government.

It was brought out that the City Manager form was not a new type of government. The first city to accept this form of government was Staunton, Virginia, which took the step in 1908. Since that time, approximately 1500 communities in the United States, and cities in other lands have adopted this plan.

This plan is in use at present in all of the 48 states with the exception of Arkansas and Mississippi. The last session of the legislature made it possible to have this type of government in Arkansas.

Under the City Manager form of government, the only elected officials would be a Council or Board of Directors, consisting of seven (7) members. These members would be elected as independents, having no political party affiliation. All members of this Council would serve without pay, serving through a sense of civic duty, such as a school board or church board.

It was pointed out that no one man or woman can file as a candidate for this board as an individual. Some interested citizen will have to circulate a petition for his candidate and obtain at least fifty (50) qualified signatures before his or her name can be placed on the ballot. At a city-wide election the Board members would be named.

This council or board would have charge of all city affairs. They hire the city manager, a man qualified from experience or training, to operate the affairs of the city in a business-like manner. He would answer at all times to the city council and could be released at any time, with or without cause.

All other city offices would be filled by appointment. These would include the city clerk, city attorney, etc., which are now elected, the City Police Department, Fire Department, Street Department, and all other departments necessary.

Makes Paying Business Big Booster of Theater

By HAL ROYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — How would you like to fly around the earth and attend the top shows in all the world's entertainment capitals?

"We're planning such a tour right now for some time after Christmas," said Betty Murray, one of Broadway's most unusual idea girls.

"There will be plenty of people who want to go," Miss Murray said. "The Show Plane Lady" is perhaps the most stage-struck woman in America. She was a variety player on the circuit and the show in college, but now she plays all her concertos on an even more lively sary in the operation of the City. These appointments would be made by the City Council. All departments would be operated on a merit system, the heads of each department to be answerable to the city manager, and he in turn to the council. City employees would have a sense of security; as there would be no need for "political employees."

It was pointed out that the city manager form of government would in no way affect the City Water and Light Plant Commission. This commission is appointed under a special ruling handed down by the last session of the legislature. However, as vacancies appear on the Water and Light Plant Commission, the City Council would appoint members to these vacancies.

It was further stated as a matter of contrast, that in the present Mayor-Aldermanic form of government, the mayor, councilmen, and all city offices, such as City Clerk, City Attorney, etc., have to file with the County election board. They have to express their political affiliation, and vigorously campaign for the office which they seek. All of these officials serve at the salary as set by the law. Under this form of government, the mayor and council share responsibility, but authority is not delegated in any person or persons.

Advocates for the city manager form of government pointed out that a special election has been called by Mayor H. M. Olsen, for April 24th, so that local citizens can decide whether they want a change in government or not.

Auto Badly Damaged in Accident Here

A truck driven by Ulysses Muldrow, Negro, and an auto driven by Mrs. Grover Thompson collided Saturday afternoon on old Highway 37 at Beech Street, with heavy damage resulting. Investigating City Officers said nobody was injured but the Thompson auto was very badly damaged. Muldrow was charged with the failure to yield the right-of-way by officers.

It was decided to have the county council meeting on the fourth Tuesday night of each month. The newly elected officers, Tonna Taylor, Teen Time 4-H Club, Mrs. William Schooley and Mrs. Howard Garner, adult leaders, were to select meeting place and notify members.

A committee composed of Ronnie Burke, Ida Nell England, Betty Blackwood, and Billy Hairs are to decide on something to do to raise money to pay transportation for the 4-Hers to go to State 4-H Club Camp at Fayetteville in July. Other leaders attending the meeting were Mrs. Joe England, Shirley Springs, Mrs. Hallie McCorkle, Mrs. Roy Burke, and Mr. Sidney Cash, Victory.

Swedish Atomic Official Accused as Soviet Spy

By GUSTAV SVENSSON

STOCKHOLM Sweden (AP) — A high official of Sweden's Atomic Energy Commission has been arrested on charges of spying for Russia.

A police spokesman said 29-year-old Robert Folke Damstedt, the commission's assistant secretary, is being held for trial on charges of atomic espionage.

Also held is Gosta T. Jakobsson, 35, a former draftsman for the Swedish navy. The case was said also to involve sale to the Soviet Union of blueprints of Sweden's newest submarines.

The disclosure added another round to the stormy exchange of spy charges and countercharges between Russia and Sweden since World War II. Last month Sweden delivered a formal protest to the Kremlin against Soviet espionage in this traditionally neutral country. That protest was coupled with rejection of a Soviet complaint that 14 spies for Sweden had been arrested and sentenced. Unofficial reports described the Damstedt case as the most serious in the long chain since World War II. It was learned, however, that as assistant secretary, Damstedt performed mainly administrative and that he was a logical expert rather than a nuclear physicist.

Derailment of 17 MOP Cars at Helena

HELENA, (AP) — Seventeen cars of a Missouri Pacific freight train jumped the track and stacked up into a pile some 40 feet high early today.

The cars did not burn. Only one minor injury was reported. M. C. Kursh of McGee, engineer on the train, said that the derailment apparently was caused by a "broken rail." He said that he saw the break when the engine was "less than 25 feet away."

Damage was extensive but an estimate of the loss was not available immediately. Kursh said that the track would be closed about 24 hours for repairs. The engine and 17 cars passed safely over the broken rail. Then the next 17 cars left the track and piled up. The tracks and roadbed were torn up.

Conductor John Straub of Paragould, who was riding in the caboose, was treated at a Helena hospital for a minor injury and released. He said that he was thrown from a chair.

The train was enroute from Paragould to McGee. The accident occurred at 6:20 a. m. near the little town of Barton. Nearby residents said that they heard loud "clicks" only minutes before when a rain passed going in the opposite direction.

Miss McCorkle Will Head 4-H Club Council

Claudia McCorkle of the Victory 4-H Club and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hallar McCorkle was elected president of the County 4-H Club Council Saturday morning at the City Hall. Approximately 75 members were present.

Other officers are as follows: Vice-President Ronnie Burke; Secretary and Treasurer Alice Nell Burke; Reporter-Patly Maxwell; and song leader-Sandy Burke. These officers are also from Victory Club.

Plans were made to have a county-wide picnic at the Fair Park on Saturday, May 25. Leaders from the clubs in the county will decide what time to meet and what food to bring.

Substitute Heart Seen in the Future

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Editor

CHICAGO (AP) — A scientist foresees the day when you might have a little substitute glass-and-rubber heart placed permanently inside your chest.

It would replace your own sick heart, which threatened death. Or you might get a substitute kidney, sewed inside your abdomen, to rescue failing kidneys.

These substitute organs might have to be plugged into an electric socket to work. But they would keep you alive.

Research on such projects is beginning, and the general principles make them look feasible, says Dr. Peter F. Salisbury of Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, Los Angeles. He took this look ahead in talking of the future of the heart and kidney.

Comes to the Defense of Mr. Reuther

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz.) spoke up today in defense of an old adversary, UAW President Walter Reuther, but said he still wants to investigate Reuther's union tactics.

"I believe Reuther is an honest man," said Goldwater, a member of the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee.

He said there is no conflict between this statement, which he said he made "in fairness," a his desire to investigate the role of Reuther and his United Auto Workers in a three-year-old strike the union still is pushing against the Kohler Co. in Kohler, Wis.

The firm now is operating with nonstrikers and new workers. It has accused the union of "violence and vandalism" and of boycotting efforts. The union says the company has refused to bargain in good faith.

Goldwater said his own staff is looking into the legality of union tactics in that dispute.

Much of Goldwater's dispute with Reuther has revolved around the senator's contention that it is wrong to use union funds for political purposes.

The committee has no immediate plans for any kind of investigation of the auto workers union.

It opens Tuesday a brief series of hearings on what Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) said was evidence that some labor union officials in the Scranton, Pa., area used "goon squad" violence to deprive union members of their rights.

Alleged terror tactics against some employers in labor disputes there also will be studied during the hearings, now scheduled through Thursday.

McClellan said testimony will be taken from 2 to 15 witnesses, including officials of the Carpenters, Electricians, Laborers and Teamsters unions in the Scranton area.

Parents Asked to Aid Student With Subjects

First steps in student classification and registration for 1957-58 will start this week at Hope High School, Principal Julius Adams announced.

All students of grades 8 through 11 will receive a letter listing all the subjects to be offered next year. They will be asked to take this letter home with them and talk over next year's schedule with their parents.

The letter, bearing signatures of parents and students, will be returned at another group meeting in a week. The second meeting will be devoted to selection of courses by students based on their conference with their parents.

After schedules are set, up no changes will be made after June 1, 1957 except in emergency cases.

"While working out a definite schedule for next year we would like to encourage all students and parents to make a careful study of courses offered, the requirements for graduation, and student plans for graduation from high school," Mr. Adams said.

Entertainment between acts at Hope High Senior play, "Daddy Long Legs," to be presented in the school auditorium April 26, has been announced.

Bill Osborn will do his impersonation of such personalities as Elvis Presley, Ed Sullivan, Johnny Ray and others. A few populars will be played by the senior class brass ensemble — Cherry Etter, David Spillers, Jerry Kidd and A. W. Martin.

Due to the increased cost of all senior activities, it will be necessary to increase the price of admission to the play this year. The class announced students will be charged 50 cents and adults a dollar.

This is the only senior money-raising project of the year. Public support is earnestly solicited.

By TOM MASTERSON

AMMAN (AP) — Hussein Fakhri Khalidi, a pro-Western political leader, was named Jordan's new premier today. This was a victory for King Hussein in a six-day-old cabinet crisis.

The seven-man cabinet includes Suleiman Nabulsi, the leftist National Socialist party leader dismissed as premier last Wednesday.

Dispatches from Amman are under censorship. Earlier advisers renouncing Damascus pictured Hussein as gaining steadily in a bold struggle to purge pro-Egyptian leaders from Jordan's army and political life. Yesterday Hussein exiled the Jordan army's pro-Egyptian chief of staff. Despite this, the major elements of the Jordan army were apparently behind the King.

Bahjat Talhouni, chief of the Royal Cabinet, confirmed that the new government had been formed.

Tension has gripped Jordan during the past few days of the crisis. But it was generally hoped now that the country will return to normal.

The Cabinet was topheavy with Independents. Besides Khalidi, the new government will have five other Independents and one National Socialist.

Appointment of Nabulsi was apparently with the support of the strong National Socialist party, which controls 13 seats in Parliament.

Other members of the Cabinet are former premiers Said Mufli and Fawzi Mukli; Suleiman Sukkur, former leader of the Jordanian Senate; Dr. Amin Majidi and Majid Abdullahi.

Khalidi's success of forming a government came as a surprise. Last official information given out earlier today said that Said Mufli was still trying to set up a Cabinet.

Agreement apparently was reached at a top level meeting called at the palace at noon. All former premiers of Jordan, all members of the Senate and some deputies attended.

Khalidi was the first candidate asked by the monarch to form a new government but he failed after two days and apologized to the King.

Hussein emerged from the crisis with a greater stature than ever. Khalidi is a Palestine refugee. This is important since Palestinians form more than a third of the population.

Besides Khalidi, four of the new Cabinet officers have served as premiers, some of them several times.

The Eisenhower Doctrine for the Middle East actually set off the crisis. Then it developed into a struggle for power between extremists and moderates.

herit the Wind. He made her a production assistant.

"It's something like bird watching," said Betty drily. "You observe everything — and make notes."

Shortly thereafter she heard a group of producers griping about the summer lull along Broadway. She reasoned that the hinterland must be full of people who'd like to fly to weekend in New York and fill all those empty seats.

"But many people hate to come here by themselves," she said. "They also hate to make hotel and theater reservations. Why couldn't I set up a simple package deal to take care of them?"

She did. She found the words were full of folks thrilled to find out that for $37.50 plus plane fare they could stay at a hotel in Manhattan dine at Sardi's, meet theatrical celebrities at a cocktail party and attend two Broadway plays.

The first show plane provided an immediate success. Since then Betty, as founder and president of the American Theater Institute, has ferried 25,000 playgoers here by plane and bus from all parts of America, Cuba and Canada.

The round-the-world trip will follow at the end of the year.

Now hailed as a new saviour of the legitimate theater, Betty yearns to be an angel — in the Broadway meaning of the term.

"I'd like to produce a fine play, something real and artistically sincere," she said, "even if it winds up a commercial flop.

Cotton Group to Fly to Boston

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Representatives of all cotton organizations and cotton exchanges have been invited here for a meeting April 18 to fix an overall cotton policy.

The meeting was urged yesterday by the American Cotton Producers Association, President A. L. Story of Charleston, Mo., said he hopes for a program that eventually will lead to free markets for cotton, both foreign and domestic.

A key proposal approved by the ACPA yesterday is that cotton acreage allotments be stepped up each year for the next five years while the price support level is steadily reduced.

Story said increased production is essential if the U. S. producer to retain foreign markets and lower prices are necessary to meet stable fibre or rayon competition in the home markets.

to require the department to invoke quotas again, subject, of course, to approval by at least two-thirds of the growers voting. The referendum must be held between May 15 and July 25.

DOROTHY DIX

Teen Too Young to Take On Drunkard's Problems

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm 16 and have been going with Mark, who is 19. We don't go steady, although neither of us goes with anyone else. He has a wonderful personality, is well-mannered and has a good job. Before we met he drank heavily, but since we've been going together he hasn't had a drink.

He says if we quarrel or break up he'll start drinking again. I don't want to end our friendship, but you never can tell. I'd hate to feel responsible if he turned into a drunkard.

WORRIED
Dear Dorothy: No 16-year-old girl should be made to feel responsible for a man's entire future. In fact, many seasoned married women couldn't, and wouldn't, take on so large a burden.

An individual is responsible for his own mistakes, and only the most unmitigated weakness would shift the load onto someone else.

At your age you want fun out of life; later, you want the security of a good husband. You don't want the constant fear that any word or action of yours will send your boy friend, or husband, into a drinking fit. End the relationship if you have any guilt feeling about it. Talk to your parents, clergyman or student counselor.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My favorite boy friend doesn't call me from home because his family doesn't like him. Unless I meet him at school we can't arrange a date. He's very welcome at my home, but he's a very beautiful boy. I would like to see him more often.

Dear Dorothy: The reason "Shy Beauty" has some like on how to handle a shy boy. Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 15¢ yours. Meaning: If your family continues to welcome the boy warmly, it will help overcome the effects of his family's teasing.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm in love with a handsome boy who thinks I'm too fat for him to date. He's exaggerating, but I'll lose a bit and lose 15 pounds. He says I'll be more interested in me now?

Dear Dorothy: I hope you consulted a doctor before embarking on your get-slim program. How can the boy fail to be impressed by the new silhouette?

WHEREAS, the City of Washington, Arkansas, now is proposing to issue and sell Water Revenue Bonds, and in order to pay the principal and interest of said bonds, it will be necessary to establish fair and reasonable rates for the services to be rendered by the Municipal Waterworks System; now, therefore,

BE IT ORDAINED by the City Council of the City of Washington, Arkansas:

SECTION 1. That the following rates are hereby fixed for the services to be rendered by the Municipal Waterworks System, to-wit:

WATER RATES, PER MONTH
For the first 3,000 gallons or less $3.00
For each additional 500 gallons or fraction thereof .25
Minimum charge for a residence or a Commercial Establishment .300
Minimum Charge for a School (each) .300
Fire Hydrants .48.00

Except for the Fire Hydrants, all services shall be metered, and each Apartment in an Apartment House shall be considered as a separate user.

Provided that the charge made to the School District for furnishing water to the school or schools shall be adjusted annually so as to allow a total of One Million Three Hundred Seventy Three Thousand gallons to be used by the School or Schools for a consideration of the sum of $720,000 annually; however, water used by the School or Schools over and above the One Million Three Hundred Seventy Three Thousand gallons annually shall be charged to and paid for by the School District at the rate of 25¢ for each additional Five Hundred gallons or fraction thereof per month.

No free service shall be given or permitted.

Bills will be rendered monthly, and a deposit of $7.00 will be required of each consumer. If a bill is not paid within ten days from the date of rendition, a penalty of 10% will be added, and if the bill remains unpaid for thirty days after date of rendition, the water service may be disconnected and a charge of One Dollar plus all delinquent charges must be paid before the premises will be re-connected to the Waterworks System.

SECTION 2. If the consumer has made a deposit of $30.00 prior to the beginning of construction of the System, and actually begins using water from the System at the time it is opened for use, this deposit will be refunded to the customer, after deducting therefrom a meter deposit of $7.00. The customer in lieu of the $7.00 shall be issued a receipt by the City showing that he has deposited with the City a meter deposit of $7.00 to assure the payment of his monthly water bill. Any customer making a connection to the Water System after the main is laid and covered shall be required to pay a connection charge of not less than $50.00, to be paid prior to the time any excavating is done toward uncovering the water main in order to make the tap thereto, provided that no person, other than the owner or owners of City's bonds issued in connection with paying the cost of installing the water System, shall have a vested right to connect to the water System for a charge of $50.00, and the City may, with the consent of the holders of City's bonds, increase the connection charge at any time the cost to the City in making the connection increases. In all cases, the property owner must pay all cost on his side of the meter box.

SECTION 3. The City Council hereby finds and declares the above rates are fair and reasonable and will produce sufficient revenue to provide for the operation and maintenance of the System and the payment of all revenue bonds and interest thereon.

SECTION 4. The City of Washington, Arkansas, does not have a Waterworks System, and the City Council hereby determines and declares that this Ordinance is necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety, and shall become effective without delay.

All Producers Will Tell About a Pet Story

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP) — Every television producer, director and writer will tell you of stories he wants to do on the home screen. But "they" won't let him.

"They are not as much individuals as the generally carefully guarded overtone of the industry which wishes to keep its programming within 'good taste' and is frightened of offending anyone. It's a curious situation.

There is, for example, one program which owns the television rights to MacKinty Kantors "Andersonville," but will not dramatize the novel for fear it will offend elements of our southern population. On the other hand, the offensive action of some of our ancestors up in Salem, Mass., some time ago when they tortured and killed fellow citizens for witchcraft is considered and rightfully absorbing television. In fact, "Odyssey" (CBS-TV) repeated its production of the Salem trials yesterday.

"Good taste" is often a matter of personal prejudices. Since the television audience now embraces almost the entire population, it embraces everybody's prejudices. And so, next season, we're going to see many fairy tales on "the home sets" — but fairy tales, carefully purged of any offensive elements.

The "horror story," a basic and delightful form since men first told tales around a fire, has never been very horrifying on television. Albert McCleery, the producer of "Matinee Theater" NBC-TV, was telling us last week that he owns TV rights to a vast store of the Dracula-Frankenstein-Vampire school. But he does not use them because some mothers have complained that they frighten the kiddies and they have been found disturbing to patients in mental institutions who watch the program.

A prime example of a collection of horror stories that will not be done on television is an anthology which Alfred Hitchcock himself has gathered in one volume soon to be published by Simon and Schuster and appropriately entitled "Stories They Wouldn't Let Me Do on TV."

Not more than three or four of 25 short stories in the volume will survive as literature because the horror story is almost always thin on characterization and deep human significance. But all give you a little chill; all are pleasant escape.

KILLED BY ENGINE
SANTA FE SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — When their car stalled at a railroad crossing, Jess Biggs and his wife Edith tried to push it off the tracks.

A San Diego-bound streamliner bore down on them. They started to run.

The train slammed into the car, sending debris flying. Sheriff's deputies said Mrs. Biggs, 53, was apparently hit by the car's engine, which was hurled 100 feet. She was killed.

Biggs was unhurt.

News From State Capitol

State Capital Bureau

LITTLE ROCK, April (Special)—The state Welfare Department knows about the activities of the Arkansas Federation of Old Folks, Inc., but does not feel it should take an official position about it, Assistant Welfare Commissioner A. J. Moss says. The organization does not have the departments benediction nor does it have access to the rolls of relief clients except as they are publicly posted at county court-houses under state law, he added.

This week the Federation's publication, "Arkansas Old Folks," came out with a front-page tribute to Governor Faubus for the increased welfare budget enacted by the General Assembly. It included a quote from a letter which the governor circulated to the Welfare Department's old age clients just before the 1933 primary elections, promising "with your cooperation, and God's help, I hope to improve your condition still more while I am governor."

He addressed a personal appeal to Chille, but allowed it to be understood that he had little hope of his accession. To Jules he spoke with a mixture of affection and respect, as became a younger brother, but as one who was sure of his agreement and approval. He spoke also to Ruhl and to Said and to one or two others by name, reminding them of incidents of the past, and skillfully conjuring up suggestions that these latest developments had been foreseen by them all long since; that there had long been secret aspirations common to them, barely spoken, barely whispered, but understood privately nevertheless; and that the presence and blessing of Larg had lifted the seal from them, and let in the sunlight. Larg was coming among them, and bringing them the promise of the restoration of former greatness.

He finished, but de la Meziere said, "Just add one thing; that Colonel Larg of Larg, accompanied by Colonel de la Meziere and yourself, will be coming ashore in a few minutes, and wish to meet in peace and friendship the leaders of the Seknougals. They should meet us down on the beach, unaccompanied by their men."

There was dead silence from the shore, and nothing to show what effect, if any, Georges' words had had upon the Seknougals. But as the boats closed in upon the narrow strip of muddy beach, 800 yards from their starting point, nobody could help but wonder whether they were heading in to danger.

They heard footsteps. Hesitantly, from out of a shadowed alley running down to the beach, came two or three figures, followed by several more; at the same moment, from high up on the hillside, they heard the unexpected sound of a motor-car starting up. Among the group approaching the beach, Allan could discern the broad shoulders and handsome head of Jules, standing a good six inches higher than the other men about him, with his khaki bus shirt contrasting with the white clothes of his companions.

"Also Ruhl ben Ishak and Said Meurahi," said Georges softly.

"And Emin Annout, and Shimon ben Shimon, and others,"

The little group of Seknougals leaders was awaiting them uncertainly. It was Jules Pernana who detached himself first. He was without his usual smile as he walked forward toward Allan, but his walk was resolute; and then he reached him he knelt on the sand and kissed Allan's hand, to Allan's deep embarrassment. Then he arose and shook hands with de la Meziere; and lastly he stepped across to his brother Georges, and embraced him warmly. Georges reciprocated, and the two brothers hugged each other and broke into a babble of smiling talk in Berber. After Jules came Ruhl ben Ishak and the rest, each doing obeisance to Allan before shaking hands with de la Meziere.

The handful of French troops were standing to attention, but by no means strictly so; their eyes were expressive of the astonishment with which they beheld the Seknougals notables greeting the strange British officer, who had arrived so oddly on board their ship, as if he were their sultan. Allan himself could hardly believe that the slender combination of his own lineage and Georges' eloquence had so speedily produced the collapse of the Seknougals revolt.

Jules made a little speech: "Colonel Larg, I am happier than I can say that matters should be ending like this. From the moment that I heard that you were coming to Seknou, I had the feeling that a new day was dawning for us here; and now I know it. If it is not quite in the way that we expected, that is no matter. My mother and my brother Camille will never be your loyal subjects; but I can answer for the rest of us. In the space of a few hours you have won for us from the French all that we lost 200 years ago."

What makes the thermal springs at the great American Spa — Hot Springs National Park, Arkansas hot — is a most frequently asked question. One of several theories advanced is exhibited by a graphic display in the Park's museum on Bath House Row gives the answer. There the geology and workings of these springs are made understandable by a series of colorful diagrams or graphs.

City Manager Act Valid, Judge Rules

Little Rock, Ark. (Special)

Little Rock, Ark. (Special) — Pulaski Circuit Judge Guy Amsler has upheld validity of the Little Rock city manager act as passed by the 1937 Legislature.

He overruled a contention by city officials Saturday that the Legislature had changed the law to such an extent that the people of Little Rock, who approved a proposed switch to a city manager system last year, were not aware of what they were getting.

Assistant City Atty. Joseph Kemp said Amsler's decision would be appealed to the Arkansas Supreme Court.

Mayor Woodrow Mann last week designated Nov. 5 as the date of a special city election to name a board of directors which in turn will select a city manager.

The date of the election as set by Mann an opponent of the change in the form of government, has been criticized by the Good Government Committee, a group which is sponsoring the proposed change. When new form of government becomes effective, the office of mayor and the City Council automatically will be abolished.

The Good Government Committee said the election date in November would be an unnecessary delay.

Bell Wants to Pass Tax on to Customers

Little Rock, Ark. (Special)

Little Rock, Ark. (Special) — A protest by Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. against the Pine Bluff City Councils raising the firm's privilege tax has resulted in a problem for the state Public Service Commission.

The question: Should utility companies absorb the impact of increased privilege taxes or should customers have to fork over the additional money?

Several Arkansas cities have hiked the privilege tax recently but the telephone company case is the first to come before the PSC.

Southwestern Bell contends that its rates will not allow such an increase. It has asked the PSC for authority to pass the bill to its subscribers.

The Pine Bluff council raised the company's tax from $12,000 to $25,000 annually.

Favorite Story About Life in Hollywood

By HUBBARD KEAVY
HOLLYWOOD — My wife's favorite Hollywood story concerns the time a prominent producer and his wife took us out one Sunday to see Will Rogers and some other movie people play polo. This was in 1929, a few weeks after we had arrived here, and we were newly married.

The uplifters in Santa Monica didn't have a bar in those Prohibition days, so the club was living up to its name. My host and I therefore had to go to a stable to get a pre-luncheon highball. While we were away, Mrs. Producer decided to tell Mrs. K. about life in Hollywood. Her thesis was:

"You are new here, so I feel I must tell you some of the facts. Your husband, in his job of covering Hollywood, meeting beautiful women, will meet some who will be attracted to him. And he will be attracted to them. But you mustn't let it worry you, because these Hollywood affairs never last very long. You will know each time he has lost interest, because he will come home to you with a gift—a diamond bracelet, a star sapphire, perhaps a new car."

Harriet's reply was a classic: "Not on his salary, he won't. Well, that was part of our introduction to Hollywood. As long as we've lived here, we continue to be surprised, amazed, amused and interested."

Sometimes meeting screen stars in the flesh is disillusioning. More often it is not. For, to come across successfully, these people must have unusually effective personalities. Some are good Joes naturally, some have to work hard at it.

Still new here, I came home one day and said in disgust that "That Crawford is a dame I never care to see again." At luncheon at the studio that day, Joan joined a little group of us and ordered a salad it consisted of chopped vegetables nicely laid on large lettuce leaves. She didn't want the lettuce, so she picked them out of the salad and tossed them over her shoulder onto a tray on a table behind her. I admired her marksmanship, but not her manners. But that wasn't all. A phone was brought to the table and she carried on a silly conversation in pig-Latin with her fiancé, Doug Fairbanks Jr., whom she later married.

I kept my resolve for two or three years, but curiosity overcame me after Joan became Mrs. Fairbanks. Besides, I am the tolerant and forgiving sort. I wondered what influence the manners of Pickfair—the home of her father-in-law and stepmother, the place around which Hollywood society gravitated a quarter a century ago—had had on Joan.

It produced a wondrous change. I found Joan a charming hostess and a gracious lady and one of the best interview subjects I ever encountered. She not only had the desire to improve herself, but the ability. She is one of Hollywood's most generous persons today. She has given thousands of dollars to worthy causes—and always without the benefit of publicity.

These reminiscences are not going to be a history of Hollywood. I'll tell some of the amusing and interesting highlights of a good many years as I remember them. Remember is correct, because a flood a few years ago washed away the thousands of clippings and carbon copies I was saving for some occasion like this.

Actors, to me, are like specimens held on the end of a pin to be examined—each with the same but each fascinatingly different. I subscribe to the definition of an actor credited to Marlon Brando: he's an actor if when you ain't talking about him he ain't listening.

Tomorrow: Hollywood homes—no hits are they.
